

SURVIVOR'S REMORSE

ADDITIONAL PRODUCTION BIOGRAPHIES

OLIVER BOKELBERG (Director of Photography)

Oliver Bokelberg's cinematography experience includes shooting award winning features with critically acclaimed directors, including his most recent collaboration with Tom McCarthy on Fox Searchlight's Win Win starring Paul Giamatti and Amy Ryan. Bokelberg and McCarthy also worked together on The Station Agent, which captured the Audience Award at the 2003 Sundance Film Festival, as well as The Visitor, which was released by Overture Films after an intense sale during the 2007 Toronto Film Festival. Director Andy Tennant is another longtime collaborator of Bokelberg's, having worked together on The Bounty Hunter starring Jennifer Aniston, in addition to two television pilots, "Operating Instructions" for USA and "Thunderballs" for SpikeTV.

Bokelberg also recently shot the pilot for ABC's "Devious Maids", directed by Paul McGuigan, NBC's "Up All Night", directed by Jim Griffiths, as well as the pilot and subsequent seasons of "Scandal" for ABC.

Bokelberg received his second ASC Nomination for his work on the NBC television series "My Own Worst Enemy" starring Christian Slater. He was previously nominated for an ASC Award for his work on the Frank Darabont directed pilot, "Raines" in 2008.

CHASE HARLAN (Production Designer)

Chase Harlan has done a wide variety of work in the design industries including films, TV shows, commercials, music videos, and tradeshow exhibits. For the past 10 years Chase has worked on HBO's hit show "Entourage," and a long list of other entertainment clientele. He is currently riding a wave of successful projects in Hollywood, and still manages to rock a mean guitar for his kids.

Harlan got his BFA in Product Design, and worked in various capacities as a designer in NYC, including freelancing for Peter Arnell and associates. Merging interests with the music world, he also played in several bands in the New York area. During that time he worked a brief stint with the MTV Networks. One of Chase's bands was eventually signed to a development deal with Atlantic Records in 1994, and Los Angeles was to be their new home. After the move to the west coast, it was only a short time before the film industry was the new focus of Harlan's design career in Hollywood, and he's been going strong ever since. Harlan has been a member of the Art Director's Guild since 1998.

Harlan was born and raised in Dallas, Texas, and attended high school at Missouri Military Academy in Mexico, Missouri. He has eternal gratitude towards his art teacher Becky Erdell, who steered him away from Army and Navy scholarship offers, and lead him towards Parsons School of Design in New York City, and a career in design.

Harlan lives in the Silverlake neighborhood of Los Angeles, with his wife Carolina, and their three sons Kai, Tao and Federico.
